

Cornell University

Profile

Hannah Rudstam, Ph.D.
Senior Extension Faculty

Disability Business Technical Assistance Center
Employment & Disability Institute
Cornell University

After completing her Ph.D. in Education at the University of Wisconsin—Madison, Hannah Rudstam worked as a program planner and evaluator at the Royal Adult Learning Academy in Stockholm, Sweden. Back in the U.S., she became a Senior Research Scientist at the University of Wisconsin, researching a state-wide health risk prevention program in Wisconsin. After re-locating in the upstate New York area, she took a position as a Senior Organizational Development Consultant at United Technologies and then at Eagle Consultants in Syracuse. In this capacity, she designed competency-based tools for hiring, performance management and employee development systems. Also, she developed a turnover prevention program that has been adopted by a number of national and global organizations. Three years ago, she took a position as Senior Extension Faculty with the Disability Business Technical Assistance Center of the Employment and Disability Institute at Cornell University in Ithaca, NY. In this role, she has designed and implemented programs on a broad range of topics related to disability and employment.